Miss Mand Richardson of Winchendon, Mass., is visiting Miss Mand Johnson. Mrs. A. L. Howard is in Boston this week and will return on Friday with winter millinery goods.

Mrs. Lucy Pond and Mrs. Emily Pierce have been visiting their cousins, Mrs. Frank Johnson and the Misses Kilburn. Rev. C. N. Krook of Weston will preach in the Wardsboro Methodist church next nday in exchange with the pastor, Rev. G. H. Rogers. Mr. and Mrs. V. Shippee of Mt. Holly and Mr. and Mrs. Benj. Perry of Proctor are visiting at Chas Martin's and Mr.

Ed. Whitcomb and Miss Jennie Wilder are in charge of the hotel in the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Underwood, who are visiting relatives in Worcester, Mass.

Joseph Morin seems to have good luck In trapping wild animals. He caught 40 woodchucks and 15 squirrels last year and 15 woodchucks and seven hedgehogs this year, and all by one trap on his farm. Rev. Dennis Wells, who celebrated his 02d birthday Sept. 30, moved with his wife on the same day into the home of their daughter, Mrs. H. C. Benson, who will continue to care for them in their declining years.

WEST WARDSBORO.

Death of Mrs. Cummings.

News was received last week of the death Mrs. Sylvia N. Cummings at her home in Fitchburg, Mass. Many will remember her, as, although sahe was born in Heath, Mass., her early years were spent here, her parents, Mr. land Mrs. Otis Streeter, moving here when she was young. She was married at Worcester, Mass., in 1859 and moved from there to Fitchburg in 1866. Her niece, Miss Dora, daughter of the late Webster Streeter, has had a happy home with her since the death of her parents here, and there is a daughter, Alice, besides the husband to sorrow for her, but "not as those who have no hope." The Fitchburg Daily Sentinel of Sept. 23 says of her: "Mrs. Cummings has been a very active, earnest worker in the First Baptist. church and in many lines of Christian work. By her death the victims of disease, the children of want and affliction, lose a true and generous friend who carried with her the thought of improving those around her." The night before her death, although for two days she had been slightly indisposed, she gathered flowers and carried them to a sick neighbor. The cause of death was said to be neuralgia of the heart.
The funeral was at the house. Mrs.
Cummings belonged to the W. C. T. U.,
and the woman's auxiliary of the Y. M.

Mrs. S. S. Perry is visiting her sister and other relatives in Boston.

Sydney and Adney Putnam, with their families, started for their western home the first of the week. The largest gathering in their honor (of which there have been several); was at H. C. Smead's last Friday, there being 53 present, several from out of town.

It is expected that Mr. Whitney, who preached here last Sunday, will be here several Sundays more. He will speak in the evening next Sunday, and will deliver an address on temperance next Wednesday

On Monday evening a large number as-sembled at the Vermont House to tender their congratulations to Dr. and Mrs. L. T. Page, who were married at Medway,

Me., Sept. 25. Refreshments were served in the dining hall, after which Chas. H. Parmelee presented the doctor with an envelope containing about $40 for the purchase of an elegant couch to be placed in his apartments over the store of C. D. Spencer & Co. Mr. Parmelee made the presentation with happy remarks and Dr. Page responded in fitting words. The cor-net band rendered several fine selections and the evening was one of much pleasure to all participating.

Jason J. Kimball, Noted Music Teacher. Jason J. Kimball dropped dead while playing the violin at Manchester, N. H., Friday evening. He was rendering Raff's cavatina on the violin with exceptional feel-ing and power, and when he reached the last chord he made a discord and fell forward dead. Mr. Kimball was one of the best-known vocalists in New Hampshire. For nearly a score of years he held the position of instructor of music in the public schools at Manchester, and no man did more to advance the art in that city than he. He was born in this town March 2, 1829. He exhibited phenomonal ability as 1829. He exhibited phenomonal ability as a violinist when a mere boy, and at 16 years of age was leader of a choir of 35 voices. He received his musical education in Boston, studying under B. T. Baker, Frazer Foster, Mr. Parkson and Myron W. Whitney. He also studied harmony with John K. Paine, Keiler and O. B Brown. B. Brown.

While in Boston he gained considerable reputation as a bass soloist. He went to Manchester in 1872, and excepting one season in Europe, lived there ever since. He had long been director of the choir of the Unitarian church. He was a member of De Molay commandry, K. T., of Boston, and an honorary member of the Manches-ter Press club.

The body was brought to Saxtons River Monday and buried in the family lot. The services were in charge of the Mason ic fraternity

The children of the late Judge Huntington have erected a fine monument in the Fisher yard, bearing the name of Eleazer Huntington, who was born in 1737 and came here with the early settlers from Connecticut; also the names of the wife and two sisters, and of two children of the judge who died in infancy, and of Jared Huntington, a son of the judge. Judge Huntington was a prominent man in the town of Acton, filling important offices, and according to the customs of those times, doing law business, though never admitted to the bar. He removed to Spring Valley, N. Y., where he died several years ago.

BONDVILLE.

The Bondville Fair.

The tenth annual fair at Bondville was held Oct. 2. In the opinion of many, the attendance was the largest of any fair ever held here. The day was beautiful and the roads in excellent condition. It was estimated that fully 3000 people were present. The Weston cornet band furnished music for the occasion. The show of stock was not up to that of former years, but there was an excellent display of vegetables; some of the potatoes seemingly were large enough to feed a small family, and some of the pumpkins and squashes were immense.

Floral hall was not so crowded with pretty things as usual, though there were many useful and beautiful articles. We noticed a cake made by Mrs. Jacobs in 1869, which looked old enough to be good. Rev. S. H. Tucker delivered the address, which was good. He gave a plain talk on agriculture the practice of which farmers would find to their advantage. Following is the premium list, as much as could be obtained Wednesday night.

WINDHAM COUNTY COURT.

George State vs. Geo. M. Corey, apt.-This was an action of trover for a quantity of cordwood, The evidence of the plaintiff tended to show that in the fall of 1893 and during the ensuing season of 1894, one Mr. Hols was living upon plaintiff's farm in Rockingham; that he contracted with Holt to cut a quantity of cordwood for him, which he did cut and drew it out upon the high Leon Sanders by his next friend in Fred O. Pierce.—This was an action of trespass for an assault and battery. The plaintiff, Leon, is a boy bout 16 years old, and the defendant was foreman in the saw mill and wood working establishment of F. L. Pierce in East Putney. The evidence of the plaintiff tended to show that Feb. 25, 1835, he went to the mill in East Putney, where he was employed a portion of the time, preparatory to commencing his day's work; that some angry words passed between him and defendant, upon which defendant struck him on the side of the head, then clenched and threw him upon the floor, placing his knees upon his breast, and with his hand in his shirt collar churned his head up and down upon the floor; that he then raised him up and an employe opened the door and defendant with great force ejected him from the mill, plaintiff falling upon some ice and plank; that his head ached, and he was bruised about the back of his bead, neck, hip and leg; that his injuries disabled him for several days.

The defendant admitted that he assaulted the plaintiff, and his testimony tended to show that the plaintiff was saucy and profane in his language towards him; that being much provoked he struck the plaintiff a light blow upon the ear, then setized him by the coat collar and snapped him down upon the floor, then jerked him upon his feet agam, and then in a gentle manner led the boy from the shop; that he did not strike him but once; did not place his hand in the plaintiff's shirt collar and churn his head upon the floor, nor did he throw him out doors; that the, boy did not fall down when he led him out from the building; that the plaintiff was not injured, but went to Putney village and worked in the shops there every day but one week day and Sundays during the next two or three weeks; that the next day he received a letter from the law office of Mesars. State vs. Mary Newton,—This was an information filed by the state's attorney for adultery. The evidence on the part of the prosecution tended to show that the respondent and one Alexander Grounds, a married man, were found in the act of adultery in the village of Bellows Falls on the 20th day of September, 1991. The respondent took the witness stand and denied that she was guilty of the act charged. Verdict, guilty.

Fred M. Waite vs. Alonzo Starkey.—This was an action of replevin for one horse. The plaintiff's evidence tended to show that the defendant as deputy sheriff levided on the horse in question by virtue of an execution in favor of one Samuel Tidd vs. the plaintiff. That said horse was his only team and was exempt from attachment and levy of execution.

The evidence of the defendant tended to show that he went to plaintiff's house with the execution, where plaintiff had three horses, and he requested him to select his team. That plaintiff did select two certain horses, and informed the defendant that he could take the horse in controversy, which he did do and retained it until it was replevied from him in this suit.

Rupert, Vt., August 5, 1895. Mr. C. A. Day, Supt. Wrought Iron Bange Com pany.

Dear Sir: -Some little time ago we purchased a Home Comfort Range from one of your wagons, and find it just as represented by Mr. Jones. We have never used a stove or range we liked so well. It is a splendid baker and heats up very quickly, and in the use of wood is very economical. Wishing you future success, we are,

Yours resp.'y. MR. AND MRS. F. SHELDON.

East Salem, N. Y. Aug. 3, 1895.
Gentleman:—This is to certify that we have purchased of Mr. Lee S. Kintner a Home Comfort Hange, and we find it just as sold in every respect. It is a splendid baker and a good cooker. We can highly recommend our range to any, one wishing to purchase a range. We would not take one hundred dollars for our range if we could not get another of the kind.

Respectfully. MR. AND MRS. P. H. DANFORTH.

East Arlington, Vt., Aug. 5, 1895.

To whom it may concern:—This is to certify that I have purchased a Home Comfort Range, and will say it answers the recommendations given by the agent selling the ranges, is a good baker, and find it a very convenient stoye to do work with.

Dear Sir:—This is to certify that we have now in use a Home Comfort Steel Range, which we bought from Mr. Jones, one of your salesmen, and find it just as represented, and, so far, perfectly satisfactory. Hoping you may have good success, we are.

MRS. D. G. BARNEY.

St. Louis, Mo.
Dear Sir: —We have purchased from Mr. Jones, one of your salesmen, one of your Home Comfort Steel Ranges, and, so far as we have used the range, we find it perfectly satisfactory, and just as he represented it in every particular.
Yours respy.

MR. AND MRS. L. LOVELAND. West Arlington, Vt., Aug. 5, '96.

To whom it may concern:—This is to certify that we purchased a Home Comfort Range from one of the traveling salesmen (J. S. Palmer) employed by the Wrought Iron Hange Co. of St. Louis, Mo., and are pleased to say that it has given entire satisfaction in every respect; is a perfect baker, etc., and the furniture is perfect in every respect. In economy of fuel it excels any stove or range we ever used; and further, the salesmen do business in an honorable, straightforward manner, and we cannot see how anyone can complain, as the ranges are sold at a uniform price, and give satisfaction in this community, and would cheerfully say to anyone contemplating purchasing a new stove or range, get a "Home Comfort."

South Bloomfield, N. Y., Aug. 3.
Having used the Home Comfort Range for two years, I can most heartily recommend it to anyone of my friends as being the best range known, I believe; a perfect baker, and not consuming one half the fuel my old stove did.

Very truly yours,

MRS, H. M. FISHER.

Bennington, Vt., Aug. 2, 1895.
We are pleased to say that the Home Comfort Range suits us in every way. The agent was a good talker that sold it to us, but he could not talk good enough to tell all the merits of the range. It is a very small fuel consumer. We can do a baking with one stick of hard wood, and it is the most even baker we ever used.

MR. AND MRS. C. I. MORSE. Bennington, Vt., Aug. 2, 1995.
We purchased one of the Home Comfort Ranges July 6, and we are pleased to say that it is everything the name implies, "home comfort." It is an elegant baker, small fuel consumer, and a first class heater, and suite in every way.

Mr. C. A. Day, Supt. Wrought Iron Range Co., St. Louis, Mo.
Dear Sir:—We are using one of the Home Comfort Steel Ranges made by the Wrought Iron Range Company of St. Louis, Mo., and so far are much pleased, and like it better every day as we get more acquainted with the mode of working over it. We find I an excellent baker and quick heater, and the best stove to keep fire we ever used, and just as represented by Mr. Jones, your saleeman.

MR. AND MRS. J. B. FARRAR.

To whom it may concern:—This is to certify that we purchased a Home Comfort Range of the Wrought fron Range Co. over three years ago in Iowa, and find it to be just as recommended by the salesmen. It takes less fuel and bakes quicker than any range or stove we ever used. We make this statement in justice to the Wrought Iron Range Co., who are now selling ranges in this section.
